Pre-K Through College Collaborating for Student Success

Schools That Can – National

Schools That Can (STC) is a national non-profit network of high-performing urban independent, faith-based, charter and district schools operating in low-income communities. Our member and affiliated schools serve over 20,000 children and graduate more than 1,000 students a year to college preparatory high schools and college. As of August, 2010 the network consists of 58 affiliated schools clustered in 14 states. The rich diversity of membership ensures the uniqueness of the STC model.

What We Believe

- Every child deserves and needs an excellent education.
- Exceptional schools can deliver excellent educational results for all students.
- Strong leadership with can-do cultures can build exceptional schools.
- Great leadership needs strong support to develop and be sustainable.
- With great leadership, exceptional schools can thrive and impact even more students.

Our Mission

Collaborating to grow seats of quality education city by city.

Schools That Can – Cleveland

Schools That Can – Cleveland is a unique collaborative of diverse and high-performing schools. We focus on finding, supporting and investing in schools and leaders committed to giving Cleveland children a quality education.

MISSION

Schools That Can – Cleveland prepares Cleveland children for successful adult lives.

VISION

Schools That Can – Cleveland has a vision of a growing educational collaborative of schools that prepare all students to succeed in high school, college and in life.

GOALS

- Recruitment and continual validation of high-performing Cleveland schools.
- Evaluate and support leadership needs.
- Facilitation of best practices sharing.
- Seek funding to expand leadership capacity for quality school growth.
- Promote advocacy and public awareness.
